Bremen is a major cultural and economic hub in the northern regions of Germany. The city features quaint maritime neighbourhoods, famous Böttcherstraße, a whole street of "Brick Expressionist" houses, museums of all descriptions on its "Cultural Mile", and UNESCO-listed Medieval and Renaissance monuments at the central Market Square. Stade is splendid town with a beautiful architectural heritage and strong maritime history along the German Half-Timbered Houses Route. Lots of small boutiques in narrow alleys make Stade the perfect place for a shopping trip, and there are cafés in historic Hanseatic houses to relax in between. Its Christmas market in the town centre is arguably one of the prettiest in the region.
